

Learn to Swim Contest Winners!

In partnership with The Brampton Guardian and South Asian Focus, Making Waves Swim School offered readers a chance to win one of 120 FREE swim lesson packages with 5 FREE lessons per package. The contest was geared toward kids 7 years or older who had not participated in formal swimming lessons.

The contest idea was in response to a recent study by the Lifesaving Society that revealed that immigrants are at a higher risk of drowning and that new Canadians are four times more likely to be unable to swim than those born in Canada.

The response was so great and the results so gratifying that Making Waves has selected 3 of the winners who showed great promise to continue with their Learn to Swim Program over the next 9 months for FREE! Congratulations to Parth, Fariyah and Parmvir who will continue their fantastic swimming progress with Making Waves! We will catch up with them in the Spring and see how they are progressing. Many thanks to all who participated!

Parmvir Singh (9 yrs) - Parmvir says "before I took lessons, all I knew how to do was stand in the water. Now I know how to float, kick my feet and control myself in deep water." In July Parmvir was pulled from the water at Wild Water Kingdom and just days later his Mother noticed the contest and entered his name on a ballot.

Parth Palanpurwala (13 yrs)
- Parth says "before I took these lessons all I could do was paddle short distances." After the lessons, Parth can now do 2 lengths of Front Crawl and has also learned how to tread water. His favorite skill is still the back crawl.

Fariyah Mahamad (9yrs) - Fariyah's mom says that Fariyah was always scared of the water when she was younger and showed little interest in swimming lessons. After her 5 free Swim Lessons Now Fariyah loves the water. She says "I find it fun to swim, it feels nice in the water".
